Waterfront Film Festival has something for everyone! 80 films, networking events, sing-a-longs, and outdoor concert at 8 venues

Saugatuck, Michigan, June 6, 2011 – From a hilarious comedy via the U.K to a horror film about zombies or a powerful drama about Autism, to documentaries about The New York Times, race car driving or becoming Santa Claus, Waterfront truly has it all.

There also are sing-a-longs, a screenwriting workshop, and networking events that include a chance to mix and mingle with actors, filmmakers and industry professionals.

And, don't miss the Opening Night concert, June 9, featuring Grammy-winning recording artist, Shaggy!

Many celebrities will be in attendance including Judson "Fabio" Birza (Survivor: Nicaragua Winner), Joshua Leonard (Blair Witch Project) and the New York Magazine-named "Indie Queen" Jess Weixler (Teeth), Rick Gomez (Band of Brothers), as well as Christopher Farah (FunnyOrDie.com) and Erik Baiers (NBC Universal). Other surprise guests are planned.

Day passes and weekend passes are available, offering the benefit of moving to the head of the line and not having to predetermine your schedule. Individual tickets are $10 each. All proceeds benefit the non-profit 501(c)3 Waterfront Film Festival. Tickets can be purchased on line at www.waterfrontfilm.org; advanced purchase is highly recommended. Or, the WFF box office is located in the Chemical Bank building at 249 Mason Street, Saugatuck, Michigan.

Now in its 13th year, Waterfront is nationally recognized and known for Midwest Premieres of many documentaries that go on to win Academy Awards.
